LOCATION

Jerez de la Frontera is a city located at the southern spanish region of Andalusia, where the sun shines 300 days per year. It is at a close distance to various wonderful beaches and coastal towns. Nestled within the mountains, there are charming old towns that seem to have stopped in time. Natural parks and hiking trails with scenery will take your breath away.

JEREZ

The city itself is a common tourist destination and famous, mostly, for three main attractions: for being the birthplace of flamenco, for its love of horses: riding and breeding, and last but not least the world famous sherrywine, unique in its flavor and aging process, that give the city its name and captivate visitors and connoisseurs from all over the world.

LIVING IN JEREZ

Jerez is an affordable place to live, with one of the lowest costs of living within Spain. The town center has a long list of bars and restaurants, with excellent choices to either taste the exquisite traditional Spanish tapas or more modern cuisine, sitting lazily on a terrace by the sun; or to explore the vibrant nightlife with dinner followed by some dancing at the many bars and clubs the city has to offer.
